

Men's Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio

Whether you are in the middle of a severe addiction or know someone who is, it can be difficult to see a way out. Habits and patterns can be hard to change anyway, but it becomes much harder when there is an addictive substance involved. Our residential treatment center in Ohio uses a compassionate and holistic approach to addiction recovery that is based on individual needs. In this article, we outline our program, process, and practice.

Choosing Yourself First

When you have an addiction, no matter its level of severity, it can be difficult to visualize a different kind of life. You have spent so much time in the cycles, habits, and patterns of using an addictive substance; it's no wonder you find it difficult to break free from it. But at the Men's Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio, we specialize in doing just that.

When you arrive at the Findlay Treatment Center, you will get all the support you need to free yourself from a damaging addiction and reclaim your sober life. Initially, we will support you to escape from the initial stress of addiction; we will then dialogue with you, understand your situation and needs, and create a tailored program for you.

Our Addiction Treatment Process

Every individual who experiences addiction is unique, even if the substance used is the same. We all have our individual thoughts, feelings, and triggers that we have to work with on a daily basis. At the Findlay Residential Treatment Center, we openly discuss what's going on for you or a loved one and develop a program based around your needs.

We begin by detoxing your system carefully, making every effort to reduce the stress of the process. We will start with a low-level detox or one based on your immediate requirements. Our detoxes are medically supervised and involve creating a treatment plan with you that contains your rehabilitation objectives.

The Men's Addiction Residential Treatment Program

When you come to us at the Men's Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio, we talk to you extensively about your addiction and your rehabilitation objectives. These conversations form the basis of the recovery program that we develop for you. It is not a one size fits all approach, but rather a mix and match treatment program that provides you with the tools you need.

We provide individual, group, and family psychotherapy sessions, which are excellent for unraveling your addiction's underlying causes. Along with this, we offer complementary medication, support, and life skills training to ensure you get the best range of options and the best chance of recovery.

Continuing Recovery Focused Care

When you leave the Men's Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio, your journey is not at an end; in some ways, it has just begun. The real challenge for you is when you go back to your ordinary life and encounter some of the stresses and triggers that motivate you to use substances. That's why our aftercare services are so vital.

We collaborate with your doctors and therapists on the outside to ensure you have the best possible foundations on which to build your sober life. We remain in regular contact with you and try to transition you as seamlessly as possible back into the outside world. Hopefully, the skills and experiences, as well as the feelings of wellness achieved in the center, will promote further recovery.
