

Women’s Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio

Habits and patterns can be challenging to break free from, and even more so when there's an addictive substance involved. At our Women's Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio, we specialize in helping women disentangle themselves from addictive patterns and discover the happiness and possibilities of a life free from substances. If you aren't sure what to expect from a recovery center, then read on; in this article, we outline the processes, plans, and programs we develop to help you as best we can on your road to recovery.

Choosing The Best Thing For Yourself

A life of addiction is a difficult and challenging life to live. Many stresses and triggers in your life lead you to using substances for escapism or stress-relief. These habits and cycles can be tough to break on their own, and there is no shame in seeking assistance to help with it. The first thing you must do is decide that now is the best time to change.

Choosing yourself means choosing to make the decision to transform your life and move out of the destructive cycles that have come to dominate your existence. Here at the Women's Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio, we help you to escape from the stress of breaking your cycles and develop an effective treatment program for you.

The Detox & Recovery Process

Everyone is unique, and we all experience addiction in our own ways. There is no point in developing a one size fits all program because it wouldn't be effective for a large number of people. Instead, we work closely with individuals to understand their needs and develop a program based on your individual requirements.

At first, we will help you to detox your system carefully and with medical supervision. We will work closely with you and your medical advisors to find the correct balance of detox for your addiction. Over time we can adapt the detox process to suit your level of rehabilitation progress.

What The Program Looks Like

Initially, we talk to you extensively about your addiction, your circumstances, and resources recovery objectives. These conversations become the foundation of your recovery program. The program is not so much designed for you as in collaboration with you. We believe that communication is the best way to design a program that works.

We have a range of treatment options for you to choose from; these include individual, group, and family psychotherapy sessions that have proven very effective for uncovering the underlying causes of your addiction. These sessions can be complemented with medication, support, and life skills training to equip you for your life outside the center.

Continuing Real Addiction Free Care

The center is an excellent place to begin your recovery from, and many people make swift progress; however, the real test comes when you return to your normal life and encounter some of the stresses that led you to addiction in the first place. We work closely with you and your medical advisors to ensure you have the best level of support on the outside.

When you leave the center, we stay in regular contact with you and consult with your doctors to ensure you have the best possible support and build a successful recovery. In the center, we equip you with the skills and experiences you need to overcome your addiction both within the center and on the outside, but we believe in providing quality aftercare as well to improve your chances of recovery.

The Findlay Detox Center Experience

The Findlay Women's Residential Treatment Center For Addiction In Ohio is created with recovery in mind. We don't believe in a hospital type environment that makes you feel as though you are unwell; instead, we create a comfortable and relaxed space that is more like a home from home.
